

Virtual Laryngectomy Conference

2020

Hosted by InHealth Technologies®

TEP Troubleshooting

Tracheoesophageal voice prosthesis (TEP) management can be challenging, even for an experienced clinician. There are numerous etiologies that can cause prosthetic leakage, both central and periprosthetic, as well as voicing challenges. This presentation will discuss several common etiologies of prosthetic failure and voicing inadequacies. Options for troubleshooting these challenging clinical situations will be discussed. Several additional challenges that can impede a TEP speaker's function will also be addressed.
